

Narrative Documentation

*Made by: Tudor-George Chivu
Magdalena Kleczewska
Marko Stošić*

Iceberg

Concept 1

The most visible to the player, it's the setting in Egypt in an Ancient Temple. From the moment they enter the Temple, they are aware thanks to hieroglyphs, artifacts, and the general atmosphere. The obvious goal is to escape by collecting 8 crystals.

Concept 2

Less obvious is the hidden lore in the puzzle. There is a Sphinx riddle and fragments of texts suggesting a hidden ancient danger.

Concept 3

A hidden but still discoverable concept revolves around astronomy. The 8 crystals- key to escape are representatives of planets in our Solar System. It's not obvious as they are marked with symbols not known to everyone.

World Overview

Setting

As much as we'd like to know everything about our world, it still holds many mysteries and secrets. In the vast African desert there still are secrets we can't see or understand. This fantastic realm inspired by Ancient Egypt is governed by the spirits of the desert and guarded by forgotten deities, where the boundaries between the mortal and divine are blurred.

Hidden beneath the shifting dunes there lies a door to this mystical realm. The temple, lost to the sands for centuries, holds a great treasure and ancient wisdom. The walls are decorated with hieroglyphs that tell tales of forgotten spirits. Yet anyone who dares to enter needs to proceed with caution, being careful not to disturb sleeping guardians. Be fast or you will never be able to escape this trap.

World Altering Events

- Millennia ago - the temple was a heart of spiritual worship for Egyptians.
- Centuries ago - because of war and natural disaster the temple is abandoned, sand covers the entrance, and it lies forgotten.
- Present day 1 - the temple remains hidden until a group of travelers accidentally falls into the collapsing structure.
- Present day 2 - ancient guardians slowly wake up making their presence known and posing a danger to travelers.
- Present day 3 - travelers successfully place 8 crystals into sockets, unlock a hidden passage, and leave the temple lost under the sand. Guardians return to sleep.

Story overview

A group of travelers went on a hike in the desert. When the sun was close to disappearing behind the horizon, friends encountered something unusual. Suddenly the ground beneath them collapsed. They activated some kind of an ancient trap. As they fell into a hole they found out it looked like an ancient tomb. With the cold night getting closer and closer the travelers realized that they needed to escape quickly. There may be ancient dangers sleeping nearby. With no way to go up, they started looking around. Soon they noticed a stone board with empty sockets. They need to find 8 crystals to fill the socket holes, by solving challenging puzzles to escape and not wake up ancient guardians.